Imagine life without access to computers and mobile phones. How would you:

- Communicate
- Shop online
- Finish school assignments and research information
- File your taxes
- Sign up for vaccines
- Fill out paperwork for doctor visits or telehealth visits

The list goes on and on, and the verdict is in: life in 2021 is critically dependent on digital devices and the ability to use them.

Many of our southern Chester County residents either lack these digital devices or the education on how to use them. They could be seniors or economically-disadvantaged community members, many of whom also struggle with a language barrier.

The pandemic accentuated the digital literacy gap and confirmed spotty internet service throughout our area.

Seniors became socially isolated, unable to connect with family. Many had to risk being out in public because they were unable to shop or order groceries safely online. Doctor appointments were delayed or canceled without the ability to participate in telehealth. Children from low-income or immigrant families didn't know how to access their online schooling with the equipment the schools gave them, or they didn't have the bandwidth or internet connections at home to participate in school.

WHAT DID OUR COMMUNITY DO ABOUT IT?

One of our biggest strengths in southern Chester County (SCC) is how the community bands together to solve problems—and United Way of Southern Chester County (UWSCC) strives to be part of these solutions. UWSCC was a founding member of Southern Chester County Opportunity Network (SCCON) and continues to be deeply involved.

SCCON recruited volunteers to tackle the digital inequity that was exposed during the pandemic. Through networking and advocacy, the group helped secure a $200,000 grant from the Department of Labor to conduct an assessment of Wi-Fi connectivity in SCC. Future actions can be taken with the results of this study.

A Digital Literacy Coalition was also formed with 30 interested community volunteers devoted to helping erase the digital literacy issue. They partnered with the nonprofit RSVP to deliver a Senior Technology Training Program for seniors who could not navigate technology during the pandemic. This program trained volunteers to work one-on-one and in small groups with seniors to help them learn to use technology. This same model will be used to help our vulnerable local populations to become digitally literate. As a result, a pilot program with 5 community agencies (Kennett Area Senior Center, Family Center, Mighty Writers, Kennett Area School District, and Kennett Library) has kicked off. Staff from each of these groups will be trained to lead sessions using a curriculum specifically targeting their clients' goals.

HOW DOES YOUR UNITED WAY FIT IN?

UWSCC is always looking for human service gaps in our area and helping to develop programs to address those unmet needs. UWSCC provided start-up funding for Family Promise (addressing the lack of family shelters in SCC) and West Grove Garage (addressing youth development in Avon Grove School District). Helping educate our digitally illiterate population fits perfectly into our mission.

We are proud to help fund this pilot program. We also helped recruit the American Mushroom Institute as a funder. This program will seek additional funding from UWSCC during our annual funding allocation process in March of 2022.

Your donations to United Way of Southern Chester County sustain vital nonprofit programs serving our neighbors in need and support the development of programs addressing unmet needs in our community!

If you are interested in volunteering to help tutor community members in basic online and computer skills—both in-person and via zoom—email: scherrir@rsvpmc.org
